

2008 Western New York Nonprofit Salary Survey

As published May 27, 2009

The 2008 Western New York Nonprofit Salary Survey has been published and is now available on the Lumsden & McCormick website. Since 1996, Lumsden & McCormick has published the bi-annual Western New York Nonprofit Salary Survey. It is an invaluable and one of a kind resource for the operation and management of nonprofit organizations in the Western New York community.

As a nonprofit executive, you know there is a scarcity of data available about compensation in the Western New York nonprofit business community. You also know that access to compensation information would be valuable to the management and operation of your organization. Our goal was to assemble reliable data about salaries in the Western New York nonprofit community. We believe that we have accomplished that goal.

Published bi-annually, the Lumsden & McCormick Western New York Nonprofit Salary Survey should be helpful to nonprofit executives, officers and board members. "We are committed to conducting this survey every other year and, in doing so; we will refine it based on what we learn from your comments. Therefore, we encourage your comments and feedback. Please let us know how we can improve this Survey in order to better serve you in the future," says Donna M. Gonser, CPA, Partner in charge of services to nonprofit organizations.
