

The 2010-2011 Tax Planning Web Guide
as published October 13, 2010

To get a head start on tax planning, check out the Lumsden & McCormick Tax Web Guide at www.lumsdencpa.com.

Recent changes in tax law, a greatly altered economy and the likelihood that taxes will go up in coming years mean that you'll need to revise the way you think about and plan for the future. Above all, you must proactively take steps to protect your wealth or risk seeing it diminish.

To identify ways to reduce your tax liability, we encourage you to look through this Guide and note the deductions, credits and other tax-saving strategies from which you may benefit. Although the Web Guide covers a broad range of tax planning subjects, there's never enough room to discuss in detail every change or strategy that may pertain to you. Therefore, we would welcome your questions about what this Guide presents and would be pleased to advise you about other potential ways to save tax in light of the latest tax law changes. Please let us know how we can be of assistance.

The Web Guide is updated regularly- we encourage you to visit www.lumsdencpa.com regularly to learn when Congress introduces new tax laws or makes changes to existing legislation. As always you can contact us to discuss a strategy that works best for you.

Dale B. Demyanick, CPA
ddemyanick@lumsdencpa.com

David Schlein, CPA
dschlein@lumsdencpa.com

Mark Janulewicz, CPA
mjanulewicz@lumsdencpa.com